DEATH'S HARVEST

Mrs. O. C. Hawk Is Summoned.

ONE OF THE PIONEERS

In the Early Days She Was a Well Known Writer—Will Be Buried at Loyalton.

Mrs. Orlene C. Hawk passed away at 10 o'clock Thursday at the residence of her daughter on Walnut street. She had been for several months a great sufferer with a nervous affliction together with heart failure so when the angel of death made his visit he was not only welcomed but welcomed as the kind messenger that leads the way to that home from which no traveler returns.

Mrs. Hawk was loved and respected by all who knew her and was a large circle of friends. She was a native of Ohio and was married in 1848. She was previously residing in Nevada Valley, Cal. where she enjoyed distinction as being the second white woman who entered the state 48 years ago the last of June.

In the early pioneer days she was classed as one of the ablest writers in California. Many of the leading magazines and papers contained the productions of her pen written under the nom de plume of Alice. Her writings will be remembered by our readers.

Mrs. Hawk was born in New York State April 13, 1851. She moved to Reno in 1881. She was married January 1, 1884, and with her husband crossed the plains in 1872, in the meantime paying her adopted state several visits.

She leaves a daughter Mrs. R. I. Jones and son J. S. Hawk, to mourn her loss to whom the sympathies of the entire community are extended.

The deceased will be laid to rest beside her husband at Loyalton. Cal. He preceded her to the grave ten years ago.

Friends and acquaintances who wish to view the remains may do so today and tomorrow at her daughter's residence 301 Walnut street.

REQUIESCANT IN PACE

The Body of Ralph S. Osburn Is Laid to Rest.

The funeral of the late R. S. Osburn took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence and was very largely attended by the citizens of Reno and the adjoining country, who came to show their last tribute of esteem to the departed dead.

The Rev. Magill and President Stubbs of the University spoke very feelingly of the estimable qualities of the deceased and the loss experienced by the community at large in his departure from our midst.

Many beautiful floral pieces were presented by friends and were prominently in keeping with the occasion. Among those who brought these beautiful offerings and whose gifts will be always kindly remembered by Mrs. Osburn were Mrs. Scheele and son, Harry, wreath. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lee—wreath, Mrs. S. O. Wells—basket of flowers, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wheeler—spray of roses, Mr. and Mrs. Sol Levy—spray of carnations, Bank of Nevada—columbium, Mr. and Mrs. Lemmon—spray of carnations, Vesperian of Trinity Church—Crown, Mr. and Mrs. W. O. H. Martin—wreath, Misses McCormack—spray of sweet peas, Mrs. Harry Brown—wreath.

Nevada Soldier's Last Roll Call.

The funeral of John Thomas Bell, late of Company A, Nevada Battalion, will take place from the M. E. Church today at 3.30 p. m. Volunteers of the late war are invited to attend.

Mr. Bell died at the county hospital Wednesday from the effects of an operation and would have been buried in the pauper's field if it had not been for the timely action of the Red Cross Society, the Executive Committee of which donated sufficient funds to give him a Christian burial.

John Bell was mustered in as private in Company A, First Nevada Battalion July 18, 1898. He was a native of Columbus, Missouri, aged 35 years. His discharge papers say that his service was honest and faithful.

TERSE AND TO THE POINT

Little Bits of Items, but Still Worthy of Mention.

The Nevada Insane Asylum has 186 inmates.

The brick work on the kindergarten building is nearly completed.

Michael Tyson and Minnie Ellinger of San Francisco were married in this city yesterday.

Messrs. Ardway, Dexter, Conroy, Henson have reopened the Wine House sporting rooms.

Howard Nash and family have moved in the Frank M. Lee house, corner South and West street.

The hay crop in Washoe Valley is being harvested. The farmers report a light crop on account of the cold weather in June.

The Washoe Lunch Counter and bar have built up an immense trade by serving only the best to their patrons. Messrs. Clausen & Block are experienced caterers.

Yesterday was another sultry, oppressive day. The mercury hovered around the hundred degree mark about noon there were strong indications of rain which failed to materialize.

Accidentally Omitted.
In yesterday's Journal appeared an interesting communication from Gold. The signature of the writer, Hon. C. D. Van Duzer, was accidentally omitted. Mr. Van Duzer, in his articles to the Journal is alluring State development by giving publicity to Nevada's undeveloped resources.

The Proposed Office.
There are eighty-six signatures to a petition that will be presented to the Town Board at its next sitting. The petition requests the creation of the office of Fire Marshall. H. Thyges is spoken of for the position. The petition contains the names of many of the heaviest taxpayers of this city.

All-Coast Team May Challenge.
The proposition to bring the All-America relay team here to race the Reno Wheelmen's riders during fall week has fallen through. Another project is now being considered.

It is based upon a suggestion made by the San Francisco Chronicle that a team be picked from all the big clubs in California and brought here.

The Chronicle says that this is the only way the Reno team can possibly be defeated by coast teams.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Telegraphed from All Quarters.

THREE NEGROES HUNG

Murder Averted in Mississippi—Little Loot for Stage Robber—Strikes Still on.

Negroes Lynched,
Special to the Journal.]
CARROLLTON, Miss., Aug. 1.—The brutal murder of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Tallierro on the night of July 30th led to the lynching of Retnie McCray, her son, Bedford McCray, and daughter, Ida McCray, all colored.

The mob, composed of about 500 white citizens of Carroll county, marched to the jail in order, demanded the keys from Jailer Duke, proceeded to the cells of the negroes, bound them and carried them to the limits of the town, where they hanged them to a tree by the public roadside and riddled the bodies with bullets.

The Eastern Strike,
Special to the Journal.]
PITTSBURG, August 1.—The strikers sought to renew the conference with the mill managers, Morgan absolutely refused to grant the request. The labor leaders are still in conference, and there is no sign of the end of the strike.

A Lone Highwayman.
Special to the Journal.]
UKIAH, Cal., August 1.—A lone highwayman held up the Potter Valley stage this afternoon just north of this city. The passengers were made to give up their money, but the bandit got only five dollars.

San Francisco Strike.
Special to the Journal.]
SAN FRANCISCO, August 1.—The strike showed no new developments to-day. Many conferences were held, but a settlement is not yet in sight.

District Court Notes.
Argument in the case of A. J. Taylor vs. the N.C.O. took place in the District Court yesterday.

Judge Talbot handed down a decision yesterday in the case of Webster & Son vs. the County of Washoe. Judgment was rendered in favor of the defendant. The contract was declared to be void and defendant was given judgment for costs. The right was reserved to the plaintiff to maintain an action to recover value of services and material rendered to the county.

TO SAVE HER CHILD
From a frightful disfigurement Mrs. Nannie Galloway of La Grange, Ga., applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve to great sores on her head and face, and writes: "It works wonders in sores, boils, skin eruptions, cuts, burns, scalds and piles." 25 cents. Cure guaranteed by S. J. Hodgkinson, druggist.

Have you ever tried a Pilon Punch? If not, call for one at Thyges. For an after dinner drink call for a creme de mint at Thyges.

THE CORNING Attraction.
The theatrical season at the McKliff is to be inaugurated by the well-known and popular Bailey Company. This is one of the standard attractions of the west and doubles theatre goers will remember the series of excellent presentations they gave here two years ago.

This season, the organization is headed by Mr. Frank Radcliffe, the well-known and talented actor, who has been seen here before at advanced prices. With an even balanced organization of competent actors and actresses in the support and enjoying the medium of many well-known and popular plays the season should open auspiciously.

SOME UP-RIVER OCCURRENCES
Miss David of Carson is visiting Mrs. Cross.

J. F. Condon is home from San Francisco.

Superintendent C. B. Derby will have charge of the business.

Mr. and Mrs. Laveaux of Wadsworth visited friends here last week.

J. H. Brantley, one of the proprietors of the "Owl," was a visitor Tuesday.

Mr. Lonkey has erected a large stable and will do a general livery business.

The latest establishment to appear is the livery and feed stable of Leon Laveaux.

J. E. Southerland, a member of the U. S. Grand Jury, was with that body in Carson last week.

The Invo Marble Company has reopened its works at Memphis after an illness of about four years.

Mrs. C. B. Derby and son Ed are up from San Francisco and will reside here in the future.

Contractor Curtis is rushing the work on the school house addition so that it will be completed prior to the reopening of the school.

W. C. Lee changed with rape, has not as yet been apprehended, and it is not likely that further efforts toward his capture will be made as the case seems to be a new one.

The little daughter of George C. L. is ten months old with a painful accident Monday evening. While cutting grass with a large knife she struck the thumb of her left hand nearly severing it. It is thought an amputation will now be necessary.

Has Leased the Resort.
Robert J. Hartman has leased the Henry Hotel property at the southwestern entrance to the State fair grounds.

He will remodel the building and beautify the grounds and conduct the place as a road house, to be known as "The Turf."

The grand opening will take place on the 11th. A balloon ascension will be one of the features of the day's attraction. The account will be Prof. Vanstone who is one of M. Earlston's former pupils and is an accomplished aeronaut.

There will be no attractions fair week to conflict from the agricultural society's program.

Mr. Earlston will conduct the place as a family resort and will permit nothing of an objectionable nature. He will shortly begin giving free open air shows at the resort.

Needs Kindly Care.
The Journal learned last night that a widow woman living in a cottage one block north of the railroad on Washington street is lying helplessly ill with no other nursing than what she receives from her four small children. It would be charitable if a few good women would volunteer to aid the children in their care.

Not Quite so Warm.
Ed Harner has returned from Pacific Grove, where he family are spending the "heated term." But that exposure hardly ambling to Pacific Grove, Ed was commissioned by his wife to send down her winter cloak. This resort is crowded at present. A number of Renos are there.

A CHANCE FOR YOU.
Yes you—make 50 cents on every dollar you buy.
$12 and $15 rugs at $4.25 and $5, only 10 left.
25-cent bed ticking at 12 1/2 cents.
Best silk thread at 5 cents.
Tadpole 2-cent hose at 15 cents.
Great Assiniboia beds, adjoining Nevada Bank.
M. E. MAYER, As Agent.

THE PROOFS ARE SHOWN

Parsee Subdues a Knocker.

A CONVINCING SIGHT

Evidences That Cannot Be Controverted by Calamity Howlers, Silarians and Moss-backs.

Parsee, the prospector, was hot in the collar all day yesterday. He told his troubles to a reporter.

"Last night I was sitting down at Henry Katers corner with my chair tilted back enjoying a two-bit cigar and thinking what a mighty fine prospect to this is. An old-time settler interrupted my ruminations by saying 'Reno is greatly overrated. It is not half as good a town as this Journal fellow tries to make believe it is.'"

"Loot here my friend," I replied. "You follow me for half an hour to town and I will conclusively prove to you that there is more activity here than there is anywhere else on the coast."

I proposed to him that we take in a block of one of East Fourth Street to disprove his pessimistic view.

"The place to begin, is at the N.C.O. shops. Where were they a year ago? Now there are huge buildings fitted up with modern machinery by which they could come near making a locomotive. This is a big force of men employed there and cars are being built by the score. The whistle at the new car works is now used to work in any one of a hundred different ways."

Now the case shows is the new magnificent factory I burnt down the other day. It is after making its first run so it is a count.

Across from the shops is the Union Iron Works. This establishment has twice more a good business, but at the moment it is a black-and-white and three months behind on orders that can wait.

A few steps further and we come to where a recently built track crosses the road. It runs up from the main line. Another track winds down from the Great Northern. These tracks were built to bring lumber from the forests of Plumas to the new saws established by the R. M. Hill Company.

Right here is a foundation 100x150 feet. Bricklayers are throwing up a substantial wall. This great structure is to be the Franklin warehouse.

On the adjoining group of lots is another big structure arising. Thirty-five bricklayers are rushing it up. The foreman of the job says that it is to be a $60,000 structure and will be an electric power house. This is probably the most important of the electric street railway. It is a big job, but, yet, can't learn anything definite regarding it.

Thus by no means completes the signs of progress revealed on a single block in this city. There are more buildings going up in town than a caterpillar could count on his toes."

No. 12 Commercial Row

IF RENO RECEIVES
TERMINAL RATES

THE fair city of Reno has, like the Nantians, "built it more noble mansions." It has emerged from village life. No longer will its history be the "Annals of a quiet neighborhood."

Today the seat of learning, the center of commerce of the vast territory lying between the Sierras and the Rockies is the erstwhile Lake's Crossing on the Truckee.

The first impetus gained by Reno was at a loss to its sister towns. Its prosperity was at the expense of its neighbors and to gain was thereby made along the line of State development. This induced a feeling in Carson, Virginia and other nearby towns inimical to this place. A cry went forth, "Reno is making of herself a drag net for the State and growing fat at our expense." However correct this may have been in point of intent, it is nevertheless true that a feeling of bitterness was fostered, wrath was nursed to keep it warm and the result was antagonism to this city in politics and commerce.
As were Saxe's blind men of Hindustan, who went to see the elephant, "one were partly in the right and partly in the wrong."

Happily this condition of affairs has passed, never to return. Virginia and Carson cities no longer look upon Reno
as a dangerous and menacing rival, sunning to enrich herself by impoverishing her neighbors. A new condition of affairs has come about. Reno and her citizens are looking to the great world outside the intermountain basin for increase of population and access of wealth.

The resources lying dormant and undeveloped about the town are being made known to the world in order that the mass of nervous energy may come in and assist in making not only a town, but the entire State to flourish like the green bay tree.

From the Comstock to Pyramid, via Carson and Reno, semicircles one of the richest and most promising mineral fields that Mother Earth contains. In sight of all three of the sister towns of Western Nevada are the untampered mines of the Sierra. This vast timber belt is not exhausted. It is not impoverished. It is a source of wealth that some day will flow into Nevada in a steadily increasing golden stream.

The Carson and Frances rivers as they dash over canyon precipices, seem to call out to the world: "Harness us, subdue us and we will turn the wheels of industry.
Convert our strength into electrical force and we will cost your ores, illumine your cities, propel your means of transportation and gladly serve you wherever and whenever our assistance may be needed."

The cloudless sky and oozed mountain air of Western Nevada say in clearest language: "Tell the world our merits, now we strengthen the weak and preserve the strong, how we heal the sick and rejuvenate the old."

But a mere exposition of Reno's attractions will not be sufficient to induce foreign capital and population. There is a stumbling block in the way of progress.
With mountains to the west and desert to the east, Reno is cut off from the great world. True it is that banks of steel climb the heights and cross the burning sands. True it is that this city is connected with the east and west by a transcontinental railroad. The carriage of the orient and the occident passes thro'
the town in a sealess stream.

The barrier to progress is the tariff schedule of this road. The terminal rates are charged on all merchandise shipped here from the east and local rates added from Sacramento. The same rate applies on out shipments.

This condition of affairs has kept Reno in the back ground. This short sighted policy of former managements of the road is to blame for Reno's slow advancement.
Happily these conditions will probably soon be at an end. It is believed that the Hays administration is contemplating making such concessions to Reno as will not only benefit the town but increase the revenue of the company.

By the aid of terminal rates this city would become a metropolis indeed.
Terminal rates would insure the upbuilding of commerce and manufactures in a manner not to be dreamed of.

No city in the west is so favorably situated for manufacturing enterprises. The possibilities for power are unexcelled.
Falling, as it does, fifty feet or more to the mile, the Truckee river is capable of generating hundreds of thousands horse power, which can be cheaply transformed into electrical energy and transmitted to this city.

With terminal rates and use of this cheap power Reno would speedily become the seat of large manufacturing.

The vast wool clip of this region would no longer be shipped away in the rough,
but the product would be scoured here and woven into fabrics. The woolen mills alone would employ many operatives. Cheap rates upon fuel and fluxes would insure the operation of extensive reduction works in this city, by means of which the unlimited quantity of low grade ores in this vicinity would be successfully reduced at a profit to both smelter men and mine owners.

The possibilities of the lumbering industry are beyond comprehension under the impetus of terminal freight rates.
The vast forests of the northern Sierras are practically untouched. The unbroken timberland covers hundreds of square miles.

These forests are now tapped by a line of railroad reaching out from Reno. The extension of the Sierra Valleya track to Molok valley this summer makes it possible for these forests to be transported piecemeal to Reno where the rough logs can be metamorphosed into lumber, fruit boxes and furniture of all kinds.

With cheap rates on the overland line
a this and more would be assured. Reno would also become within a few months a wholesaling town of great importance. Its geographical situation makes this a foregone conclusion. The territory tributary to Reno covers a vast extent and is rich in resources. Its population would look to this city as a trading point and large wholesale business houses would be built up.

This is but a brief and incomplete reference to the advantages that would ac-cure through the making of Reno a terminal point. It would be advantageous to the railroad as well as to the town.
The volume of business transacted between San Francisco and the cities of the west would leap to large proportions and the reduction of rates would be much more than compensated for.

ASTONISHED THE EDITOR.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Hannotsville,
S. C., was once immensely surprised.
"Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was gradually run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach but she tried Electric Bilters which helped her at once, and after using four bottles, she is entirely well, and can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver troubles it's a positive, guaranteed cure. Only 50 cents at S. J.
Hodgkinson's drug store.
